

Creating a momentum for change, the EMIP Project Conference was held in Budapest in March 2006. The conference brought together national partners, consortium members, project experts and invited colleagues from across the partner Member States to discuss and debate:

- findings of the EMIP project and consider their implications for the future implementation of mental health promotion and prevention.
- determinants of effective implementation: how to make a difference through action on the ground.

Follow the links below to view presentations from Creating a momentum for change

Eva Jane Llopis: A WHO perspective

Eva Gronai: Occupational health in Hungary

Richard Plette: an overview of mental health promotion and prevention in Hungary

Gregor Henderson: Reflections on EMIP

Harri Vertio: Social toxicity and health promotion

John Henderson: Key elements of implementation

Czeslaw Czabala: Reflections on national workshops

Nic Marks: Future priorities for promoting well-being in Europe

Jude Stansfield: Implementation of Mental Health Promotion Strategy in NW England

Gregor Henderson: Draft Matrix for EMIP

Panel Discussion

Airi Varnik

Laszlo Lajtavari

Vladimir Kebza

Kytarzina Okulicz-Kozaryn

Tanja Kamin

